2010 National Fall Meeting
October 14-16, 2010

Portland, Maine
In Maine....we take Vacationland Seriously!!
Some of you asked where is Maine?

Here we are!

35,000 sq miles of beautiful country

Two seasons – early winter and late winter

1.3 million people, 60,000 in Portland

41.3 persons per sq mile (38th)

23rd state (March 15, 1820)

No longer part of Massachusetts
Our International Airport has a new terminal....
...but space is still tight!!
Our Hotel is the largest in Maine...

But...

It is being renovated to provide state-of-the-art hospitality.

Got to admit thought...you will have a great unobstructed view from your room.

We need some humor to take the edge off all the reporting we have to do!

Celebrating 15 years as a stand-up comic, Bob Marley is one of the hottest and most sought-after comedians in the country. He has been featured in his own special on Comedy Central, and is one of the few comics to do the complete late-night TV circuit: “The Late Show” with David Letterman, “The Tonight Show” with Jay Leno, “Late Night” with Conan O’Brien and “The Late Late Show” with Craig Ferguson and Craig Kilborn.

Marley, a Maine native and University of Maine at Farmington graduate, uses biographical and observational material for his high-energy routines. He began his career in his hometown of Portland, and then moved to Boston to gain experience in a city known for spawning comedy all-stars.

A regular at the Aspen and Montreal comedy festivals, Marley was named one of Variety’s “10 Comics to Watch,” Marley has also appeared in several films, including the cult favorite, “
